

The International Association of Integrative Cooperation was established in 2016 in St. Petersburg. The organization has implemented several hundred projects aimed at promoting public initiatives to establish comprehensive ties between state and private organizations of the Russian Federation and partners abroad.

The mission of the Association is to assist partners and members of the Association in developing various models and forms of integration cooperation between them, in protecting the rights and interests of partners and members of the Association in government bodies of the Russian Federation and abroad, in establishing and developing relations with Russian and foreign business and public circles.

The International Association for Integration Cooperation carries out:

- bringing foreign companies into the Russian market, helping Russian companies enter foreign markets,
- search for business partners and investors in Russia and abroad,
- legal support for foreign economic activity and international projects,
- verification of counterparties to reduce legal and financial risks,
- resolution of foreign economic disputes in court,
- representation of interests of foreign companies on the territory of the Russian Federation,
- search for financial and credit organizations for the implementation of international projects,
- conducting thematic research in the field of economics and international relations,
- organization of business events, conferences, round tables and exhibitions,
- assistance in registration and accreditation for significant business and socio-political events and exhibitions,
- business tourism and visa support,
- registration of work permits and obtaining temporary residence permits.

Together with the project "Modern Heritage of Russia" investment projects for foreign partners are being developed. The proposals include both the opening of new exhibition venues and filling existing galleries with exhibitions and sales of unique jewelry and decorative and applied art items by contemporary Russian masters.
